

3rd Hong Kong Logistics Case Competition 2017

11-12 FEBRUARY 2017

The Case Competition is a team-based competition open to post-secondary students in logistics-related disciplines which is organized by the Youth Society of the Hong Kong Logistics Association (YSHKLA). There are 16 teams for joining in the competition. Nine students from Associate of Science in Airport Operation and Aviation Logistics (Tse Lok Yiu, Ko Cheuk Ki, Chan Chun Ting, Sandhu Manbir Singh, Lo Tsz Hin, Wong Hon Yuen, Lo Long Hin, Cheung Lok Kan, Chan Yau Kei, Michelle) formed three teams for the Competition.

This competition focused on problem solving. A study-visit to Yatfai Intergrated Logistics Limited on 11-12 February 2017 had been arranged to provide students more insight of the warehouse operation. After that, each team needed given time to work out a total solution for their study results over the weekend. A presentation held the day after and assessed by Yatfai Director, Mr. Benjamin Szeto, Raymond Siu and HKLA, Dr. Alex Tang.

The Competition provides a very good opportunity to the Division and our students for having a stronger and deeper relationship with the aviation and logistics industry. Students reflected that it was a challenging task because they needed to apply the knowledge they have learnt to practical logistics problem and proposed feasible solutions to the company in a short period of time. They enjoyed the time of sharing their ideas and learned from each other.

Six AOAL Students received the following awards in the competition:

- Second Runner Up: Tse Lok Yiu, Ko Cheuk Ki, Chan Chun Ting
- Best Team Award (Round 1 Presentation): Lo Long Hin, Cheung Lok Kan, Chan Yau Kei, Michelle
