

Internship Orientation Seminar 2012

The Division of Computer Studies has organized an Internship Orientation Seminar for year-one students on 10 May 2012. Thirty students studying in the Associate in Applied Business Statistics (AScABS), the Associate in Creative Interactive Media Production (AScCIMP) and the Associate in Environmental Studies (AScES) were successfully-selected to join the Summer Internship Programme 2012 and attended the orientation seminar.

In the seminar, Miss Kingship Lo, the DCO Internship Coordinator, introduced the job natures of the various job posts to the students, which involve farming, organizing activities for the people in need, guiding eco-tours, editorial job for eco-magazines, marketing and management jobs, and e-book design. Students will be assigned to work in six organizations comprising of the Tai Po Environmental Association, the Neighbourhood Advice-Action Council Harmony Manor (NAAC), the Hong Kong Traveler, EcoVision, the Hong Kong Traveler and the Green Globe for the duration of one to three months in the summer break. The internship programme aims to provide students opportunity to appreciate a real-life working environment and develop self-confidence, maturity, and self-discipline as a team member.
